

GISIG PCE Schedule, IATEFL Glasgow, April 3rd 2017

Time	Title	Presenter
10.00-10.10	Welcome and introduction to the PCE Outline of the day, break and lunch information, housekeeping issues	Julietta Schoenmann, GISIG
10.10-11.15	Language for resilience: English enabling access for refugees The LASER programme, teaching 3000 refugees in Jordanian refugee camps and host communities since August 2015, aims to give refugees the language and academic skills they need to access higher education. The project manager will guide the audience through designing and working on a successful refugee education intervention.	Joe Field, British Council, Jordan
11.15-11.30	Break
11.30-12.15	Zooming In and Zooming Out The session focuses on the Hands Up Project which teaches English through simple video conferencing tools to children in challenging circumstances	Nick Bilbrough, Freelance teacher/trainer
12.15-13.00	Intentionally experimenting with peace through community living From Donald Watt's 1932 Experiment in International Living through preparing Peace Corps Volunteers to World Learning, this talk will be about promoting peace through intercultural communication.	Susan Barduhn, Teacher educator/ consultant
13.00-13.45	Lunch
13.45-13.55	Introduction to the afternoon sessions	Linda Ruas GISIG
13.55-14.55	Promoting Empathy with Short Films How using short films in class can raise awareness of various global issues such as gender issues, homophobia, disabilities, inequality and poverty and promote empathy	Kieran Donaghy, Writer/teacher trainer
14.55-15.30	Project updates: Passionate educators and students confront modern slavery and human trafficking. The NO Project has news about the diverse, youth-oriented ways in which students, educators, artists and film-makers are using their talents to address modern slavery. HeartELT Do you take a stand as a teacher? Every time we enter the classroom we 'stand up' for kindness, fun, patience; yet we may make a stand against domestic violence, fracking, damage to the environment or unethical business practice. This short session will look at how we can encourage more ELT activists and social entrepreneurship.	Judy Boyle, Teacher/writer/founder of The No Project Julie Pratten, Founder of Heart ELT
15.30-15.45	Break
15.45-16.15	Open Space Discussions 1 Is English a force for bad in an unstable world?	Julietta Schoenmann
16.15-16.30	Introducing Global Citizenship Education to Teacher Trainees This presentation will focus on the role of Global Citizenship Education within teacher preparation. It will draw on my experiences of bringing wider educational aims into methodology instruction.	Margit Szesztay, IATEFL Vice-President
16.30-17.00	Open Space Discussions 2	Linda Ruas